

M.R.F. Supervisor's Monthly Report Feb. 10, 2012

The month of January at the M.R.F. consisted of Carey and I doing the following tasks:

- Accepting incoming garbage
- Crushing glass
- Sorting recyclables
- Working on the demo area
- Baling recyclables
- Sorting scrap metal
- Processing old paint
- Working on the exchange
- Cleaning up the grounds
- Working on the electronics
- Switching out the garbage and demo boxes
- Working on Haz-mat
- Servicing the equipment
- Cleaning the shop
- Moving snow
- Answering numerous phone calls
- Working on the annual D.N.R. M.R.F. report
- Plus our daily tasks

Because up until now not many people have read my monthly summaries, and I have been asked many times in the last month what M.R.F. stands for. So here it is. We are a licensed Material Recovery Facility with the state of Wisconsin. The M.R.F. is also it's own Responsible Unit better known as RU. Also licensed with the state. There you have it.

Additional info:

!. I plan to get pricing on re-painting all of the signs that could use a face lift. I'll try to squeeze the money out of the facility line in my budget.

I was kind of pinched into placing boxes for the winter, but who can ever figure the weather around here anyway.

Respectfully Submitted,

Ted Pallas Supervisor M.R.F.
